[The Duke of Clarence and Avondale, otherwise known as Prince Albert Victor, is the eldest son of the Prince of Wales and was born in January, 1864. He was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge, and at the University of Heidelberg. Previous to his entering as an undergraduate, however, he had passed two years as a naval cadet on board the Britannia, and in '70 started with his brother Prince George of Wales on a voyage round the world in the Bacchanie. He returned to England in '82. On leaving the University, Prince Albert Victor proceeded to Aldershot to prepare for the army. H.R.H. was invested with the Order of the Garter in 183. In company with his brother he visited Ireland in '87, and was created Hop. L.L.D. of Cambridge, in '88,

THE Hongkong public, will be pleased to notice that Professor Friedenthal will give a second entertainment on Saturday night in the Theatre Royal, which is infinitely more suitable than the bare hayloft, with its Quaker-meeting seats, of last night's exhibition. We shall be all there, for the advent of a real musical artist is an event in the history of the colony.

WHILE the cordial and magnificent reception to Prince Damrong, of Siam, by the Kaiser, was doubtless prompted in a large part by a desire to sustain German interests and influence in that Kingdom, it is also construed (in some quarters) as a notice to France that Germany will be found championing Siamese independence against French aggression. Prince Damrong. himself, evidently so interpreted it, as shown by his subsequent remarks to the Times' Paris correspondent. Part of the Prince's mission to Europe is to sound England and Germany in respect to what protection Slam could expect should the French become too aggressive. England is said to have given a (avorable reply and the indications are that Germany will do the same.

THE Waching correspondent of the N. C. Dails News writes on the 7th lost, :- In the N. C. Dally News received to-day there emerges to the surface of report once more the soterious name of Li Hung,—this time as the leader of the seditions movement in the north, There is something very peculiar in the way this name is made to do duty. Some months ago a local sald of some bandits in the north of this province upon some barrowmen was magnified by sumour into a rebellion. At that time the name given Orders for Copies of THE "HONGKONG to your correspondent as that of the leader was rebellion in the bud. The strange point is that Mr. may possibly be anti-dynastic, and that it is under the leadership of the same redoutable Li Hung, who is seeking revenge on the Tartar. General. In the uncertainty it is very likely that this report may prove as mistaken as others, but, other article—which we admit is defendation, to fight, and to defend himself. But he would some time. Witness remembered when she that Van Epps should first be called and then if so, whence among the Chinese has spring up and will prove to be true, and will prove to be true, and the witness could give his evidence on that point, this belief that Li Hung is to move against the After reading the article in extense and com- Prancis, who did not represent the Government would be "company for the old woman," but not before, That was agreed to, and Van government; have secret emissaries been conspiring with this magic name? This idea of that although the article was not written by him, him as the coming man is very tempting to like was only too glad to take the responsibility.

After reading the article page represented on the proposition of the came after midnight and called him out the winear box, he was requested to step up. one's powers of imaginative suggestion; but it of it himself, and let the jury read in the case was or loose down her back, on the ground floor, was sween and stated:-I arrived in the colony is wise to sestrain such powers, and a good check | it in their own way. IT is reported in a Service paper that the Admiralty will shortly commission the Arethusa for the China Station, Although launched in 12881 she has never been commissioned for any foreign station; she is a sister ship of the Leander.

THE Orenies, which was to have sailed from Portsmouth with troops for China on the rithult., had to postpone her departure owing to the "great storm." She left on the 12th ult., bound for the Mediterranean ports, Colombo, Singapore, and Hongkong. She should arrive at Hongkong on January 6th.

THERE was a very large and appreciative audience at Professor Friedenthal's musical soirée in St. Andrew's Hall last night, when the masterly exposition of the planoforte's possibilities exceeded the resiest anticipations. We can only express our regret that owing to the libel action now proceeding in the Supreme Court we are so pressed for space and time that it is impossible to deal with the concert adequately or give Professor Friedenthal's unequalled abilities that iustice which we would wish. This duty we must leave to those who heard him, and who cannot but confirm our statement that to hear him is to hear the pianoforte at its best, its ideal.

An extraordinary general meeting of the share-holders of the China Shippers' Stutual Steam Navigation Company (Limited) was held on soth ulto, at the Cannon-street Hotel (London) for the purpose of passing resolutions to the effect that, it being desirable to reconstruct the company, it should be wound up voluntarily and that the liquidators of the old company, viz., Messrs. D. Reid and John Potter: be authorised. to consent to the registration of a new company to be named the China Mutual Steam Navigation Company (Limited). Mr. David Reid presided. The resolutions were carried unanimously, and confirmed at a subsequent meeting.

SUPREME COURT.

IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION. (Before Chief Justice Sir J. Russell and a Special Jury.) December 16th,

MINHINNETT v. FRASER-SMITH. On resuming this morning, Mr. Fraser-Smith addressed the jury in defence. He said :-- May it please your Lordship, and gentlemen of the | few days ago, to have A Ngan in the box. jury, there is a very old and trite saying that One story is good until another is told." We had a practical illustration of that in the address of the learned counsel for the prosecution yesterday. The first thing I want to impress upon you, gentlemen, is that eloquent cration delivered to you by Mr. Francis must be taken simply as a rhetorical display and nothing more, until proof brought to substantiate his statements. So not in plaintiff's hands. far as we have got, there are many very damaging statements, entirely unsubstantiated -a pyrotechnoial display of thetoric utterly unsupported; and his Lordship will tell you that until it is supported by evidence it is of no value whatever. Mr. Francis went a very long way from the issue which you have to try. and I thank him for having done so, for he has assisted me as much as he could in the determination of this case. You are here, gentlemen, to try a charge of libel alleged to be contained in two farticles published in the newspaper of which I am proprietor and editor-the Hongkong Telegraph. In intro-S. S. Co., that the steamship Gaelle, with mails, he had put in that article entire, out of fairness to me. I am only sorry the learned counsel did arrived at Yokohama, and will leave for this I not extend this consideration to the other article. which he put in only in part. That necessitates my reading to you the whole of the article now. After reading the whole of the article August 12th, 1890, Mr. Fraser-Smith continued:-The defence is a plea of privilege; and I go further than that. I justify the article. Had it been merely the defence of a "fair newspaper criticism." I should not have felt the necessity, after all that has taken place, of going out of my way to plead justification, though I have very strong views on that point ; but I might simply bave pleaded guilty, and allowed the matter to have tested on the one issue of the amount of damage suffered. But I have gone further. have been compelled to go further, and to plead justification. On their side they are standing on one ground, that of malice, will lay it before you (subject to correction from his Lordship) that unless the Idamed counsel proves absolute and actual malice-not merely malica in thought, but in fact-he has no case a for malice in thought and in fact are two very different things. That is simple statement of the case :-- the defence is privilege and fustification, and the plaintiff relies on proving malice. I can find nothing else in the opening address of counsel to deal with a st will be my duty later on to say a few words on the question of privilege, which Mr. Francis very fairly defined. I may mention that throughout the whole of his speech Mr. Francis spoke of myself beingthe writer of all these paragraphs and articles which he quoted. Now, the law is perfectly clear, the responsibility is mine as printer and publisher; but I may tell you that this article of August 12th was not written by me; but by Mr. Ward, a member of my staff. Still, I will take the liberty of saying this, and I will prove itthat there is nothing in this article that libelious or delamatory, to anybody ; it clearly not offensive in any possible way to any individual, but simply a comment on the proceedings in a trial in summary jurisdiction in this Court. After reading the first part of the anicle, Mr. Fraser-Smith said that on the question of venality

His Lordship :-- The Jury have to decide if the innuendo as put by the barrister is correct. The defendant then went on to deal at some length with the meanings attached by Mr. Francis to the articles published. He then said :-

We are not shirking this inquiry, we are courting it, and have courted it. I deliberately accuse Minhinnett, by my plea of justification, of having committed two offences -of committing an indecent assault on young Chinese girl, and of having seduced and of now living with a Eurasian girl, daughter of the woman Wong A Ngan, who was his kept woman for seven years. I have charged this man with the disgraceful conduct of a Far Eastern Count Zuroff-living now with the daughter after seven years with the mother. If I prove that—and I will prove it—I ask you, gentlemen of the jury, what damages this man is entitled to for "defamation of character"-such a character ! I have pled privilege. Mr. Francis clearly laid it down what privilege means, that every newspaper man and every man has a perfect right to comment on all proceedings in a Court of Justice and on all the public acts of any public man or paid servant of the public. As to the law on that point I have the opportunity of addressing you later, but I shall be very brief, as his Lordship is much more competent than any of us to do that. I do not always agree with udges' rulings, but I think his lordship's decision as to the law of libel is the best ever uttered. It amounts to only two words-"faircriticism." What is fair criticism is not libel. That is the best definition of what newspaper may do without libelling that I have ever come across." Mr. Francis went out of his way to take up three quarters of an hour over what might have been said in two words—fair criticism. If a man goes beyond that, to attack anybody unfairly, the law will not allow it. If you find I was influenced by private spite or ill-will, then you will decide; it is for you to consider whether malice has been established or not. I think on the evidence you will agree that far from bearing ill will, I did not even know the man, nor anything about him. I met him four or five times in my life. I have seen him in the Court, with his solicitors. It will be for you to consider whether I pointed out by the learned counsel yesterday.

a monster, a blackguard, a scoundrel, as If so, then by all means give this man damages, to which he is entitled for what I have said. He will admit, I know, that he lived with A Ngan a number of years; he will admit that he is living with Emily now; he will admit he has a wife and two children in England; and he will probably admit a good deal more when we have the pleasure of seeing him in the witness box. I also hope that we are going, as his Lordship expressed a desire in chambers a defendant to say what information Mr. Quincey (Detective Inspector) had given him on the is subject in the last 24 hours. The woman was

The Chief Justice asked if defendant would

Mr. Fraser-Smith:—She cannot be found We obtained permission from the Acting Captain Superintendent of Police and every endeavour was made by the detectives to find her, but we have not been able to do so. His Lordship—Is the woman in the colony

If so I can call her. I certainly think this woman should be called. Defendant-I promised your Lordship I would go to Amoy to look for her. I went, and found that she had come down to Hongkong by the steamer on the day I went. His Lordship explained that Mr. Fraser-Smith lucing one of the two articles Mr. Francis said applied in chambers for a commission to examine the woman in Amoy, and his Lordship then said he thought, and he now thought still, that the right and proper thing was to have the woman before the jury rather than simply have her words on a paper written by an official in Amoy, where there was no opportunity for the jury to judge of her demeanour. Now it was said she was in the Colony. Did defendant wish to

His Lordship :- If she is, I shall certainly see that she is called, if she is anywhere in the iurisdiction. If you take out a subbana I will see that you have every possible aid.

Mr. Fraser-Smith thanked his Lordship and added that when Mr. Francisasked what informs. tion Ouincey had supplied, the learned counsel was "chancing his hand," for Quincey had told nothing. He then again continued his address, showing that most of the points made by Mr. Francis were very good points, true and weighty, remarks that have been passed, and the state. applying to matters not before the Court at | ments made by A Ngan to you and Mrs. Goul. on account to Mr. Webber, for Minhinnett. all, and that on the real point of the alleged | burn," Witness said "Yes, Jack." It was was cognisant of what had taken place between a ridiculous affair, ridiculously carried out, and the women and the plaintiff. a proper theme for public criticism. As to the part taken by the editor of the Hongkong Telegraph and Mr. Ward in giving the information, this was only what the law enjoined on any citizen having knowledge of any offence supposed to have been committedas shown in the Scottish High Court of Justice, Lightbody v. Gordon, o, Scotch Sessions Cases, Odger's Digest (1887) which made such action compulsory. Mr. Francis remarked that the charge of rape was a shot, and Mr. Fraser-Smith was the gunpowder; the shot would never have gone forth but for the powder.

Mr. Fraser-Smith went on to say that the charge of malice on account of a civil action was absurd, as the money sued for had been paid at the time, and all was over between them. The only real allegation which might burt plaintiff was supported by his own admissions. A man who was in Government service, and spent much of his time in private business, and was living in open prostitution with the daughter of his concubine, was utterly unfit to remain in the Government service. That admission alone was quite sufficient to set aside any question of damages for defamation of character." money could be recovered in an action for libel if the libel was true. His Lordship would correct him if that statement was wrong. (His Lordship did not.) This man was living with and had liad children by the daughter of the woman whom he' had first kept and then discarded. And such was the man who dated to come into the open light of a British Court of Justice and ask for damages for defamation ! He wanted to "vindicate his character." Why, he had none ! A man like that could not have a character. Damages for loss sustained by his reputation ! Where was the loss?

Mr. Fraser-Smith then dealt at length with attempts alleged to have been made to get witnesses to leave the Colony, or to intimidate them or suborn them. His address is too long to publish in full, and much of it dealt with evidence which will come out in due course. At the conclusion of his speech the first witness was at once called.

William Goulburn, for ten years clerk in the Surveyor General's Department, now unemployed, said he had been 20 years in Hongkong, He knew Minhinnett since 1877 or 1878, and very intimately since 1885. In 1888 was living at 14, St. Francis Street. About September of that he heard reports about Minhimett Mr. Francis objected to the question as to what the reports were. Objection upheld, --Minbinnett was living about four doors away from witness, with alwoman Wong A Ngan; also with an adopted daughter Li Afat, and A Ngao's own daughter Emily. "Chop Dollar" was, witness believed, another adopted daughter of A Ngan, and lived with them in Queen's Road, before coming to St. Francis Street. Witness of his own knowledge swore that Minhianett afterwards kept and cohabited with ... Ghop Dollar." ... Believed $300 was promised to Wong A Ngan for her, A Ngan told him. He never asked Minbinnett. In September 1888, on the 6th day, witness' wife's birthday, there was a porty at his house. On that or the next night A Ngan came to the house and complained bit erly. She brought a small pair of child's drawers, covered with blood. Mrs. Goulburn present. A Ngan made a statement to her, which witness heard.

Li Afat disappeared. He had a conversation with Minhinnett (on the subject of a supposed outrage) in the Government office; within four weeks after September 6th. Minhinnett said But I think at the same time it was about the chricts to be able to trace the bright of the dropped, and the meaning left entirely to the Minimett, who was his pensioner, who was his pensioner. jury to decide, and not to a clever berrieter, and who sweet a priest to see the st that hour of the morning. He tag my questions, and be extend.

To his Lordship—I refer to the alleged

Continuing-I am aware that my wife and the woman went to consult Mr. Webber after the alleged outrage upon Li Afat, Minhianett told me that he had consultied Mr. Webber, respecting paying off Ah Ngan owing to the trouble over the little girl, Li Afat,

To his Lordship.-He told me he had spoken Webber about paying off Ah Ngan in regard to trouble over both Emily and Li Afat.

Witness (continuing)-I was on very intimate terms with the plaintiff. We were often and constantly together. Webber and Minhionett were on most intimate terms. I saw him at Mr. Webber's frequently, on Sundays. The plaintiff Minbinnett was in charge of No. 2 Condult works and drew double pay from Government for doing duty on Sunday although in Webber's house most of the time. I can't say whether it was I who introduced Mr. Webber to the plaintiff-I'm not sure. I noted as free agent for Minhinnett in money-lending transactions. The services were gratuitous. . I rendered the service to him gratis in consideration of his kindnesses to me in the past. He carried on an extensive business in the pawn-broking and usury line. I'm fairly well acquainted with the rules of the Government in respect to their servants trading. His Lordship-I don't see why a manein the Government service should not lend out his

Mr. Fraser-Smitti-Just so, but it does not allow them to carry on the business of a pawnbroker or usurer.

Mr. Francis-How do you know that;

Mr. Fraser-Smith-I'll show that later on, Mr. Francis to Mr. Fraser-Smith-You must

April 1987 I received $5,000. O/o per annum. I paid it to Trang King in the Office of Public Works. It was money advanced to Tsang King, a contractor of the department, On October the 4th I paid $5,000 to him, On October 20th, 1887, I paid $750 on my own personal account to the plaintiff. Money leading is frequently carried on in the Service. don't think it is very general in the Service. I know from my experience in the Service that the lending of money on interest is carried on in the Service. The entry in the book preduced, "Minhinneti's Investment Account," is in my hand writing. At this point the book in question, containing private accounts, was handed to the Judge, Mr. Francis and, by request of the Foreman, to the Jury, who examined it carefully.

Witness then read out a number of entries relative to the amount of interest charge on several small "short" loans-from 8 to 12 per

To his Lordship-After paying the collected interest to Minhimsett he (the plaintiff) initialled the book, or rather the entry.

Continuing, witness said-Some of the entries under " Minhimett's Investment Account " were Mr. Francis objected to that statement being in respect to money invested, some on my account and some on Minhinnett's account. Witness knew that shortly after this the child On the 14th August, 1888, there was a sum of 2600 loaned to Mrs. Goulburn. The interest on that sum was $60, which was at the rate of 12 per cent per annum. I discharged an obligation to Minhinneit, some $2,700 and $2,300, by "You have heard all that has been said, and the paying to Tsang King in the Office of Public Works the $5,000 aforesaid. I have not seen Mrs. Goulbourn or spoken to her about any matters pending in court within the past seven weeks.

Mr. Fraser-Smith:—Now, Mr. Van Epps, 1 warn you to be careful. You are on your oath, mind you. You must answer this next question carefully. He then asked witness whether he had written any letters to Mrs. Goulbourn. about the case pending in Court, within the past seven, weeks. The answer was :-

At this juncture the Court adjourned until 10.30 to-morrow, when the examination in chief of Mr. Goulburn will be continued.

REGATTA TIPS.

(FROM A VERY GREAT MAN.)

The training has in most cases been a farce right through. There is hardly one of the crews that has been three times in a boat together. except the English International. They have tried their best to keep the Scotch from winning. by changing their crew every day, and even now It is not decided who is going to row. For the Chairman's Cup rather more work has been .done. This is how they will finish:-

.Chairman's Cup:—Kennedy or Master's crew. .Garrison Cup :- Saunders' crew.

In his allusion to the Vatican Rudiul said We have in our midst the Papacy, which sometimes assumes a threatening attitude, but its sphere of action is limited to the exercise of spiritual powers, not only by a law which cannot be lightly contravened, but also by the almost unanimous consent of those who thought themselves most religious. The country's ecclesiastical policy has now become traditional. The honor and strength of the kingdom of Italy must be scrupulously maintained. The deplorable incidents produced by a few short sighted persons will not make us deviate from our policy. Strong in the present and confident of the future, we fearlessly guarantee the fullest liberty in Rome." Rudini's remarks concerning the Papacy have produced a bad impression at the Vatican, his programme tending to make the Pope only the first subject of the King. Here is his story, and he shall tell is in his own way, Mr. Gaskin goes on to say : "Up to eight years ago I had never lost an hours' work through sickness. In December, 1882, whilst living at Beeston, near Nottingham, my appetite fell away, I had dreadful pain after pating, a bed taste in my mouth, which would fill with water and slime, the latter so thick and sticky that I often had to remove it with my fingers. My chest used to "fill up" and my throat would swell so I couldn't button my shirt at the neck. I vomited a great deal, chicily a yellowish-green phlogm. I had a moking cough, and would cough and strain till I bled at the nose, and the blood rushed out of my cars. I became exhausted and short of breath and had to call the doctor, and was in bed five or six weeks. "I then went as out-patient to the Nottingham Hospital, and after attending there for six months was very little better. I got so thin that I was like a ghost walking about, and my friends said it was all up with me. For eighteen months I kept getting better, then worse, and at last the doctors recommended me to try a change of air. So I came to Darley Abbey and my former master gave mean indoor recommendation to the Dorbyshire Infirmary, Derby. I found, however, that all the beds in the hospital were full, and I saw my club doctor and also two doctors at Dorby. The first one said. * You are in a galloping consumption, and must dies the other doctors, after sounding my lungs and chest, Things went on like this until December, 1888, when I caught cold, got yerr short of breath, and broke down completely. I was always coughing and splitting up phlogm, sometimes as much as a teacupful at once, and was afraid to go to sleep for fear the phleam would choke me. At this time the whites of my eyes turned yellow, and my eyes were bloodshot. My lips and mouth were dry, and parched and I often broke out into a cold, clammy sweat.
